The consultation (where it all begins)

It all starts when you, the client, get in touch with us for a FREE (Yes free) consultation. You can do this via our website contact form www.lloydbryantenterprise.com/contact.html

The planning and mockups

From there we put together a plan as to what the client is looking for and what kind of website they want, and how they want it to benefit their profits. This is also the time when we sit with our very skilled in-house website design and development team and we go through an initial quote for the client and as to what the client wants for the budget they may have.

The estimated quote

Once we have looked through the plans and mockups of what the client is after we create an Estimated quote. Please note this means that the quote that will be given is an estimated further and additional work and revisions will be added to the final quote.

The project gets green-lighted

Once the client agrees to the estimated quote we make sure a contract/service agreement is signed to protect us and the client from any legal issues we could possibly face. Once the contract has been signed we will acquire a 50% deposit before we start. We will also collect data and learn about how the client and their business works and what their business is and what industry they are in.

Design and Development

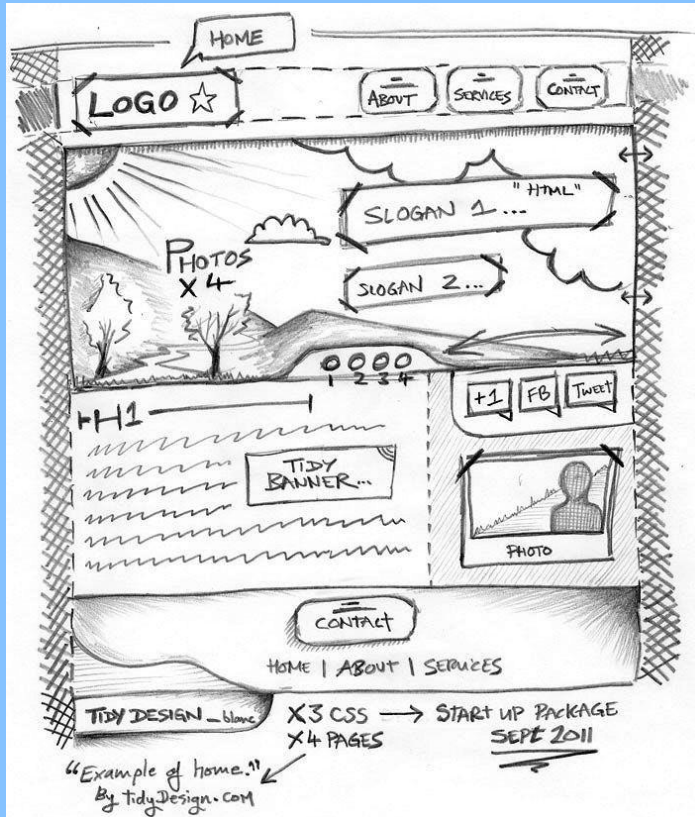

The next step is the website design and development stage. Our skilled developers and a team of designers will work together and build the best website your business could have.

Further revisions and additional work

If the client wishes for us to add some things, or change or delete some parts of the website, it will be called the revision process. This stage is when we take the opportunity to make final changes to the website before migrating it to the client's domain.

Final quote and payment

Following the revision stage, we will then send over a copy of the final quote and we will then collect the payment for the service and we will hand over the website to the client.

We don't see a website as just a website, we see it as a highly intelligent business tool that can bring your business forward to the world, and with a website, your business can grow and adapt to the modern-day age we have today. We provide one of the best website development services on the market and we go above and beyond to make sure every project we work on has the same amount of attention to detail and needs as we would our own project. A website can solve your issues by bringing in potential customers and with a website, your business can be promoted endlessly.

Lloyd Bryant Enterprise has some of the best pricing plans and packages and we charge affordable prices so no matter what business reaches out to us, we want to provide a great service with the highest of standards. As we have worked with so many different industries we have noticed that every company is different and they all have different needs and desires. Sole traders, ltd companies, and large corporate-sized businesses, you name them, we have worked with them and all websites we have created have been planned, designed, and developed intensely by our in-house website design and development team.

FAQs

Does the client have access to any part of the website during the development and design stage?

No, the client will not have access to the website and will not be able to access their domain until the project has been finished.

How much do you charge for a website?

You can take a look at how much we charge for our website development service by following this link over to our Pricing page <https://lloydbryantenterprise.com/pricing.html>

How long does it take to build a website?

As all websites are different and all are different sizes, some store much more data and content than others and some are more advanced than others. It's hard to say an exact duration however we estimate every website we build and how long it would take. Some take a week or two and some take a month to six months.
